

PHARMANEX BIOPHOTONIC SCANNER

Are your supplements working?

In 90 seconds the BioPhotonic Scanner can tell you your skin carotenoid score. Healthy people have higher antioxidant scores which protect the body from free radicals. Lower antioxidant scores make people more susceptible in terms of likelihood of malignant lesions such as basal cell carcinoma and melanoma.

The biophotonic scanner is the first of its kind using Nobel Prize Raman Spectroscopy technology. It is noninvasive versus blood or urine testing and results are known in minutes.

Pharmanex, is a global leader in the research and development of phyto-pharmaceutical and nutritional products. Scientists from around the world are talking about this revolutionary tool that enables us, for the first time to measure our level of carotenoid antioxidant protection quickly.

The ability to measure is the basis of science. Only Pharmanex has the ability to measure the effectiveness of supplements in our bodies in REAL TIME. This allows Pharmanex to offer the only “Performance Guarantee” in the nutritional industry.

Pharmanex is the first and only nutritional company to ever carry the endorsement of the US Olympic Committee.

Over 76 on staff scientists make up the Pharmanex research and development team. They represent such institutions such as Harvard, Stanford, UCLA, Columbia, Purdue, Beijing Medical University, Shanghai Medical University and Peking University
